HE SHOULD BELONG TO THE ORDER OF HEROD

The Stifts-Tidende, of Ribe, Denmark, is quoted in a Reuter dispatch from Copenhagen to the effect that the commander of the submarine which sank the Lusitania was Captain Max Valentiner, son of the dean of Sondersburg Cathedral. Captain Valentiner, this newspaper says, has been decorated with many orders since the sinking of the steamship, including the Iron Cross of the first class and the Hohenzollern House Order with Swords, a special distinction which is the personal gift of the kaiser.

TO CONSIDER WAYS AND MEANS

The finance committee of the council, of which Councilman D. W. Tompkins is chairman, will meet tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in council chamber at city hall for the purpose of considering the financial matters of the new Carnegie library. Council several weeks ago asked the finance committee to prepare a budget for the library. The meeting of the committee will be public.

SILVER MEDAL CONTEST

There was a silver medal contest held at Moss Bluff Sunday night, Aug. 27th. The contestants were all from Moss Bluff and the speaking was good and did much credit to the ones who had it in charge, Mr. Gus Waters and his mother, Mrs. M. N. Waters. The speakers showed careful training. The church was filled although the weather was not pleasant. The judges were W. L. Colbert, S. A. McKinney and Miss Emma Washburn. There will be an L. T. L. silver medal contest at Electra next Sunday night.

HOW ABOUT THIS?

Jack McCully Tells Why So Much of Marion County Trade Goes to Gainesville

Editor Star: I notice in yesterday's Star where you say a whole lot of Marion county meat will be shipped to Gainesville this fall. This is no dream, and I can give you the solution for it. When you do business with a Gainesville man you do a cash business. When you take a hog to the market in Ocala the chances are you will have to wait all day for your money, and then perhaps not get it. This becomes very tiresome to a man who needs the money as all farmers do, for they want to go home and get to work. Again I notice a Marion county farmer goes to Gainesville to buy wire fencing and saves money. Why, Mr. Editor you haven't just now realized this? Eighteen months ago I wanted to buy a mile of wire fencing. I happened to be in Gainesville at the time. I stepped in a hardware store (for my first time and a stranger) asked the clerk to quote me price on a mile of wire fencing. They made the price f. o. b. Gainesville. I wanted the wire delivered at Emathla and found it would cost 26 cents per 100 pounds, which would amount to $9 per mile of fence. I did not buy the wire, then and came to Ocala next day, went into a hardware store and asked for prices on the same wire, as I wanted to patronize my home people. I thought if I could buy the wire at the Gainesville price I could haul it from Ocala for the $9. To my regret and astonishment the price was $12 higher in Ocala than I could get it delivered at Emathla, or in other words, it was $21 more per mile in Ocala than in Gainesville. I told the merchant what the wire had been offered to me at. His reply was that was the place to buy it, and so I did. Another thing I would like to call your attention to is the Cole fertilizer distributors. They are worth from $6.50 to $7 in Ocala and $5 in Gainesville. Why is this? All other hardware is in proportion. There is certainly something wrong somewhere. Mr. Editor you will agree with me that you can't find a hitching post any place in Ocala where a farmer can leave his team in the shade. Is this a trick to make everybody patronize the livery stables? Does this show that the merchants are catering to the country trade? I can't see it that way. Gainesville has many hitching posts and racks have been put up; also comfortable seats around the court house square, and drinking fountains. For what? For the accommodation of the country people. I am anxious to see Ocala get up and do something and keep her produce at home, which she ought to go and when the business men awaken to a sense of duty you will see Ocala grow in leaps and bounds but she must get out of the old ruts of lethargy. In 1890, if my memory serves me right, Ocala had about 5000 population. Since then she has gained seven or eight hundred. At this rate in 1940 Ocala's population will be about seven thousand. But by that time you and I will be making our complaints in other parts unknown.

Yours for success,
S. J. McCully.

ITS A MIGHTY SLIM CHANCE

that insects have in a home where FENOLE is used.

FENOLE stands alone as the insecticide that "Hits them where they live," and puts them out of business without regard to class, color or size.

FENOLE is to be used anywhere and everywhere in the home; the insect hidden away in the darkest corner or the deepest fold of carpet, bedding, or clothing, has no more chance for his life than his fellow bug who risks it in the open.
